Q: Is it possible to force objects to be serialized as JSON? I'm trying to write a protocol specification. In that specification I want to define a set of objects that will be serialized in a JSON-like format. Since JSON is a generic format it is possible that other formats will use the same serialization API. This is why I want to be able to force objects to be serialized in that format. Is it possible to do so? I thought of doing something like this:

[Version("1.0")] public sealed class MySerializer : IObjectSerializer
{
    [OnSerializing] public void Serialize(JsonWriter writer, object obj) { // If serialize to JSON
writer.Write(JsonTextWriter.WriteObjectValue(obj)); } [OnSerialized] public void Deserialize(JsonReader reader, object obj) { // If serialize to JSON reader.Read(JsonTextWriter.ReadObjectValue(obj)); } } But
